JEWEL PRESENTATION. A beautiful Masonic past-master's jewel was presented to Past-Master Dr. George Potts, of Petersbarg Lodge, No. 15, to night. The ceremony occurred during the regular meeting of the lodge. The presentation address was delivered by Mr. James B. Blanks and was a model of its kind. Dr. Potts's response, though the occasion was a surprise to him, was a very felicitous one. The jewel is a rich and handsome one, and is a present from the Doctor's Masonic friends as a compliment to his worth as a man and his activity and usefulness as a Mason. ALLEGED FRAUDULENT TRANSACTION.

The Eigenbrun Clothing Company to-day swore out a warrant for the arrest of a young man named E. W. Epes, charging him with obtaining goods under false pretences. It is alleged that on or about the 10th day of April hast Mr. Epes, who had previously had dealings with the firm, purchased a bill of goods to the amount of $25, in payment for which a check for $57, dated Roanoke, Va., and drawn on the First National Bank by J. C. Jones & Co., to the order of E. W. Epes, was presented. Upon the assurance that the check was all right Mr. Eigenbrun cashed it and gave back $32 in money. In due course of time the check was deposited here by the company for collection, but it was returned to them dishonored, with the statement that no such firm as J. C. Jones & Co. kept account in the bank. It was learned to-day that the party who passed the check was located near Blackstone. The warrant was therefore sworn out and an officer went up to Blackstone to make the arrest.

Sunday and to-day were the hottest days of the summer. The mercury yesterday stood at 38 degrees in the shade and to-day at 96. The main object of our sweltering humanity seemed to be to find the place that afforded even the least degree of comfort.

It is understood that the employes of the Norfolk and Western railroad who were recently dropped from the pay-roil at different points will soon be reinstated in their respective positions.

DISCIPLINING LAW-BREAKERS.

dria—Two Funerals.

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

ALEXANDRIA, August 19.—The chronic law-breakers here are fast coming into traces under the vigorous administration of Mayor Strauss. The Mayor, when he assumed the reins of government here, announced that he proposed to break up crowds of disorderly roughs who nightly congregated on corners on the outskirts of town, and he gave the police instructions to arrest all persons who did not at once obey orders when told to "move on." This policy of the Mayor's has been vigorously enforced, so that most of the gangs of toughs have been thoroughly broken up and scattered. He has also broken up in a great measure gangs of young negroes who paraded the streets at night singing and otherwise disturbing the quiet of this old town.

Charlottesville, Va., August 10.—Mr.

Thomas Johnson, the oldest citizen of Charlottesville, died at his residence yesterday at 5 o'clock A. M. Deceased was a native of Augusta county and was born in 1801. He is therefore ninety years of age. He came to Charlottesville fifty years ago to work at his trade, that of a carpenter, and had resided here ever since. On account of his extreme old age he had been incapacitated for work for about fifteen years, but was possessed of all his faculties, very active, and had been confined to his bed and room for only about a month. He did not believe in doctors or the taking of medicine, and during his long life rarely ever called in a physician and when he took a dose of medicine it was of the most simple kind. His wife, who was in her eighteth year, preceded him to the grave about two years ago. Mr. Johnson was an honest, upright man, thoroughly conscientious, and was liked by every one who knew him. His death was calm and peaceful. His funeral took place at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Methodist church, of which he was one of the first members.

Newpoar Ngws, August 10.—The Board of Trade has taken up the matter of providing some sort of protection against fire, but it has not yet been decided what method will be adopted. A chemical engine from the Holloway Works in Baltimore arrived here to-day and will be thoroughly tested. Mr. C. B. Orcutt, Mr. White, Colonel Braxton, and other prominent men favor the Holloway, but many others prefer a steamer.

The mystery surrounding the death of the unknown man found near the raccourse a few days ago still remains unsolved, but the officers are working on the case and declare that they will not give up until the murderer is apprehended.

At a quarter-past 12 o'clock last night the fire-alarm whistle at the Chesapeake and Ohio electric-plant frightened hundreds of people in the city by one of its uncarthly screeches. Fire had broken out in a small isolated colored church. The flames were so well under way when the alarm was given that no attempt was made to extinguish them. The building was worth only about $200. The fire was the result of carelessness during the day.

Drake's Branch, Va., August 10.—At a meeting of the colored secret society of True Reformers, held at Mossingford church, near here Saturday night, a noise was heard outside and it was thought that same one was trying to overhear what was going on. The guard, James Brooks, went out and fired a pistol several times, not with any intention of shooting any one, but to scare off the supposed cavesdropper. One of their own members, Henry Logan, was tying his horse and received the last bullet. James Brooks was tried for shooting Logan and acquitted, but fined for shooting along the public road.

A SUNDAY TRAGEDY

A FARMER NEAR DANVILLE SHOOTS AND KILLS HIS NEPHEW.

The Bliffe Found Concealed in the Bushes-A Hearing To-Day. DANVILLE, VA., August 10 .- George Ferguson, aged seventeen years, was shot and killed near this city yesterday by J.

Abel Motley, his uncle, under the following circumstances: Young Ferguson and a number of other boys from the city had gone down the river to bathe, the point selected being at the mouth of Pumpkin creek, on the land of Motley. After taking creek, on the land of Motley. After taking their bath they heard several reports of a gun, and Ferguson said he guessed it was his uncle Abel shooting at some one in his watermelon-patch. He determined to investigate the matter and went up, the hill. The other boys followed him into the corn-field. When Ferguson reached a little knoll he stopped to look around. Just then there was another report of a gun and he fell to the ground. His brother, Engene Ferguson, ran to his side and moved him to the shade of a tree. A number of men soon came up and conveyed the lad to Motley's house. Physicians were speedily summoned and upon examination found that the ball had struck the lad in the back, passing through the kidneys and coming out through the abdomen. Everything possible was done to save him, but he never rallied and died about 7 o'clock in the evening.

THE RIPLE IDENTIFIED. After the boy had been taken to the house a search was made in the woods and a thirty-two-calibre rife was found in the bushes. This was identified as Motley's rifle. Motley was arrested and taken before Judge Aiken, who admitted him to bail in the sum of $5,000. The lad was not then dead.

bail in the sum of $5,000. The lad was not then dead.

Motiev stated that he had been much annoved by boys and men who have trepassed on his premises, and that he had heard that his watermelon-patch was to be raided by Danville boys on Sunday. He went to the patch, he said, and fired his gun to frighten the boys, and with no intention of striking them. He does not admit that he fired the shot that killed Ferguson, and says he would not have shot at all if he had known who the boy was.

Surrendered Hisself.

Surrenderred hinself.

He expresses great regret at the sad occurrence. After the lad died a second warrant was issued for Motley's arrest, and an officer was sent to his home to serve it, but in the mean time he came to the city and surrendered himself to the authorities. He was again taken before Judge Aixen and committed to jail until to-morrow morning, when a motion will be made for bail and a preliminary hearing will be had. The case excites much interest here. The full facts will not be ascertained until the preliminary trial to-morrow. SURRENDERED HIMSELF. pary trial to-morrow.

Lynchbueg, Va., August 10.—George Armstead, a popular and highly-respected young man twenty-two years oid, a native of Charlotte county, committed suicide near Brookneal, in Campbell county, yesterday. He had been ill for some time with malarial fever. About ten days ago he improved sufficiently, as he thought, to go to work. On Friday last, however, he was again taken ill. He quit work, but would not go to bed, and expressed his determination to zome to Lynchburg to be treated, although he was receiving every possible attention at Mr. Biglow's, his employer. He went to church yesterday merning, where he told some of his friends of his new resolve and bade them good-by until he should see them again, as he intended, he said, to take the Lynchburg and Durham train to-day for this city. After dinner he went to his room, saying he wanted to take a little rest as he felt fatigued. No attention was paid to him then, as he often slept in the afternoon, but at supper-time Mr. Biglow went up to awaken him, and to his horror found that the young man was nearly dead. A boy was sent at once for a doctor, and some of the neighbors summoned. The doctor soon came, but found Armistead dead, and a bottle which had contained laudanum was discovered on a chair near the bed. This drug was the means used by the young man to destroy his life and thereby end his sufferings.

SIX DROWNED.

Out of a Merry Yachting Party of Nine but Three Return Alive.

but Three Return Alive.

A yachting party of nine, four men and five children, sailed from South Boston Sunday to cruise in Dorchester bay. Only three of the nine returned alive. Within three hours of the time the sail was set which sent the little craft scudding across the waters a frightful accident had occurred, says a Boston special, and six souls were in eternity.

The skipper of the boat was John Burke, an experienced sailor. If the occurrence was due to carelessness, he who was charged with the custody of the party paid the penalty of his life for the neglect.

In the gathering twilight to-night the bodies of the drowned were brought in one by one, and sent to their late homes.

The boat is a small one, not more than twelve or fourteen feet long, and is known in South Boston as the May. The party left the moorings at the toot of G street about 1:30 in the atternoon, and until the accident the time was spent in cruising about Dorchester bay. At the time of the accident the boat was tacking.

THROWN INTO THE WATER. THROWN INTO THE WATER.

accident the boat was the Marker.

In an instant all the occupants of the boat were in the water. The frightened children and the men cried out for help, but with one exception no boat was nearer than half a mile away. The nearest one was 200 yards away, and the rescued men declare that the occupants of this one made no effort whatever to save the drowning people.

Among the first to hear the cries of the children were Louis Keezar and Dennis Fay, of the Mosquito Fleet Yacht Club, who were cruising in the bay about half a mile away. Keezar jumped into the tender, picked up the oars, and pulled hard to the rescue of the drowning men and children. He pulled so hard and to such good effect that it is due solely to his efforts that Churchill and young Burke were saved.

were saved.

SANE BEFORE HIS EYES. When he was a short distance away he saw four people struggling in the water, and although he shouted to them to hang on to the overturned boat, he saw twoof them sink before his eyes. Churchill and young Eurke were hanging to the boom of the sail, and they shouted to Keezar to save the others, as they were safe for some time.

save the others, as they were sate for some time.

Despite their confidence, born of generosity, Keezar saw that they could not hang on, as the sea was rolling rather heavily, and he took them off in such a condition that it was some time before they were thoroughly restored.

Soon after Keezar started to the rescue Special-Officer Barry, of the police force, was attracted to the foot of the rearest wharf by the cries of some children who had seen the accident, and he jumped into a dory lying near by and started toward the overturned craft. As he drew near he saw a man and two children's hats floating in the water.

Thinking that the children had not yet sunk, he pulled down to the hats, but snik, he pulled down to the hats, but found no trace of the little ones. He turned his attention to the man, and so succeeded in rescuing the third one. An hour's labor at the bath-house was neces-sary to restore him. RECOVERING THE RODIES

After leaving him at the public bathhouses the policeman returned to the scene in a boat, and with a long pole with a hook attached, succeeded in recovering the bodies of the six victims.

John Burke, who acted as skipper of the craft, is a carpenter by trade, but had had considerable experience in sailing a catboat, such as was the May. The accident was caused by the overloading of the boat.
It was never intended to hold more than four people.

four people.

The boat was so overloaded that she sat down to her gunwhale, and when tacking several times nearly went over. At the time when she did capsize it so happened that all the party were on the wrong side of the boat and when an attempt to tack was made sne went over in an instant.

Mr. A. K. Hawkes:

Dear Sir, —It gives me pleasure to say that I have been using your glasses for some time past with much satisfaction. For clearness, softness, and for all purposes intended, they are not surpassed by any that I have ever worn. I would recommend them to all who want a superior glass. Respectfully yours, —JOHN IRELAND.

(From the Ex-Governor of Arkansas.)

Having used A. K. Hawkee's New Crystallized Lenses for some months, I have found them the finest glasses I ever used. Signo P. HCohfs.
